DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 10-06-03 has been entered.

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Response to Arguments

3. The rejection of claims 1-20 and 23-33 under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as set forth in the Office Action mailed 10-24-00 has been withdrawn in response to Applicant's arguments filed 6-02-03. However, new grounds for rejection of claims 1-20, and 23-57, under 35 USC 112, 1st paragraph are set forth below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. Claims 1-20, and 23-57 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. (Written Description).

The instant claims are drawn to methods and compositions comprising a first therapeutic agent comprising a synthetic, modified oligonucleotide complementary to nucleic acid encoding the N-terminal 8-13 codons of protein kinase A subunit RI α . Although Applicants provide a description of the oligonucleotide sequences according to SEQ ID NO: 1, 4, and 6, wherein said oligonucleotides are effective in the claimed methods. The sequence of these oligonucleotides cannot be used to predict the structures of the full scope of oligonucleotides encompassed by the instant claims, or the structures of the full scope of nucleic acid sequences encoding the N-terminal 8-13 codons of protein kinase A subunit RI α encompassed by the instant claims. The instant claims encompass oligonucleotides targeting all polymorphic, allelic, and splice variants of nucleic acid encoding the N-terminal 8-13 codons of protein kinase A subunit RI α , including all nucleic acid species variants of protein kinase A isolated from all sources.

According to MPEP § 2163, "[A] biomolecule sequence described only by a functional characteristic, without any known or disclosed correlation between that function and the structure of the sequence, normally is not a sufficient identifying characteristic for written description purposes, even when accompanied by a method of obtaining the claimed sequence." Additionally, note the January 5, 2001 (Vol. 66, No. 4, pages 1099-1111) Federal Register for the Guidelines for Examination of Patent Applications Under the 35 USC 112 ¶ 1, "Written Description" Requirement. These guidelines state: "[T]o satisfy the written description requirement, a patent specification must describe the claimed invention in sufficient detail that one skilled in the art can reasonably conclude that the inventor had possession of the claimed invention. An applicant shows possession of the claimed invention by describing the claimed invention with all of its limitations using such descriptive means as words, structures, figures, diagrams, and formulas that fully set forth the claimed invention. Possession may be shown in a variety of ways including description of an actual reduction to practice, or by showing that the invention was "ready for patenting" such as by the disclosure of drawings or structural chemical formulas that show that the invention was complete, or by describing distinguishing identifying characteristics sufficient to show that applicant was in possession of the claimed invention."

In the instant case, since it is clear that further experimentation is required to identify the full scope of oligonucleotides encompassed by the instant claims, wherein said oligonucleotides target nucleic acid encoding the N-terminal 8-13 codons of protein kinase A subunit RI α isolated from any species, including all allelic, polymorphic, and splice variants of this nucleic acid. Moreover, further experimentation is required to identify those oligonucleotides that are useful to treat cancer in an afflicted subject. Therefore, since further experimentation is required to determine the structures of those compounds and targets that are encompassed by the instant claims, Applicants were not in possession of the full scope of compounds encompassed by the instant claims at the time of filing.
